Rites for Victims of Double Shooting Set for Thursday

Services for Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Myers at Mount Morris

Mount Morris, Oct. 28.—The bodies of Burdette Myers, 37, and his wife, Darlene, who were found shot to death in their home in Rockford Monday, were brought to Mount Morris, their former home, Tuesday, for funeral services at the Finch funeral home at 2:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The Rev. Earl Edwards of the Methodist church and the Rev. Albert Newman of the Lutheran church will officiate and burial will be in Oakwood cemetery here.

Question "Boy Friend"

Rockford—A 17-year-old reputed "boy friend" of Mrs. Myers was questioned by Detective Sgt. Ralph A. Johnson yesterday in an effort to determine the source of the mystery telephone call received by Desk Sgt. Joseph Lapinski, asking police to investigate "trouble" at the apartment. The youth, who admitted he was a friend of the dead woman, denied having made the phone call. It was believed the caller may have walked into the apartment unannounced and discovered the bodies of the couple on the floor and called police headquarters from the Myers telephone at 6:35 p. m. Monday.

The question of the order in which the couple was shot and who did the shooting remained a matter of dispute yesterday as police and Coroner David Klotz continued an investigation into the double tragedy, which occurred on the day after the Myers' first wedding anniversary.

Believes Husband Died First

The matter probably will be left for a coroner's jury to determine at an inquest to be held later this week.

Coroner Klotz yesterday said there is no doubt but that Myers died an hour or two before his wife. Klotz and Police Capt. Ralph Foster expressed belief that both committed suicide because of the disparity in the supposed time of death and the fact that their heads were powder-burned, indicating that the death gun was held close to their heads when the trigger was pulled.

Detective Sgt. Johnson, after making paraffin tests of hands of the victims, said he believed Myers first shot his wife and then killed himself. A few traces indicating that he had fired the gun were found on his hands, while none was found on hers.

Examination of the death gun, which belonged to Myers, revealed that three bullets actually had been fired, Johnson said. The hammer also had struck the other two bullets in the gun, but they had not exploded. Johnson expressed belief that Myers had tried out the gun before using it on himself and possibly his wife.

Big Estate Involved

The question of who died first may have to be decided bearing on ultimate disposal of Mrs. Myers' estate. She had considerable cash in a bank, bonds and real estate.

Her nearest relative, an aunt, Mrs. George Doyle, rural route 2 Mount Morris, with whom she lived from 1932, when her mother died, until graduation from Mount Morris high school, was located yesterday.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

London, Oct. 28.—The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. William Temple, tells me he believes Anglo-American friendship is one of the first needs in rebuilding the post-war world and he is concerned over a report he has received that the United States may draw away from this country because of Britain's trend to the "left."

When the archbishop speaks of the "left" he is not using the expression in the political sense but in its broad Socialistic meaning. He has in mind England's social upheaval which is heading toward equal opportunity for all with special privileges for none.

His Grace asked if there was danger of amity and cooperation between the two countries being harmed by this tendency. I assured him that my observation led me to believe that the United States was surging forward with the times and that we should keep step with England in any humanitarian developments.

The archbishop has a very special interest in this "leftist" movement in Britain because, forsooth, he himself is a vital part in it. In Dr. Temple we have a curious break in generations of conservatism which have occupied the primate's throne.

He not only has been named a member of the Labor party but for years has urged the rank and file toward a goal of partnership in industries in which they serve and has called for limitation of the profits of capital.

Dr. Temple declared that "nazism is opposed to Christianity."

"It is an anti-Christian thing we are fighting," he said. "Nazism puts no limits to the state; that is to say, it makes it absolute. Christianity must resist."

Ingenious

Orrick, Mo., Oct. 28.—(AP)—A mouse trap gives Joe Albertson, owner of a small coal mine near here, another hour's sleep each morning.

A string runs from an alarm clock to the mouse trap. When the alarm goes off, the vibration of the string springs the trap.

The trap throws a switch that starts an electric pump. By the time Albertson and his helpers arrive, all the water which has seeped in over night has been pumped out of the mine—and they can start work immediately.

Long, Agonizing Road Ahead of Us Before Victory Says Sec. Knox

New York, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Navy Secretary Frank Knox says this country is rising unyieldingly to a military strength that assures victory, but that only a long, bloody, costly fight will produce that victory.

"We have a long and agonizing road ahead of us," Knox told some 3,000 persons at a Navy Day dinner last night. "x x x x x The relentless vise of war will squeeze us tighter and tighter. The price in blood and treasure will be staggering."

"We will suffer cruel losses x x x but we know now x x x that we are going to measure up to our destiny."

He declared that the Navy had "hit the enemy some savage

British Knife Way Deeper Into Axis Desert Defenses

Stalingrad's Great Army Stops Many Nazi Assaults

By ROGER D. GREENE

Associated Press War Editor
Britain's desert armies were reported to have knifed through axis forward defenses in the battle of Egypt today, while the Russians turned the tables on German forces in the western Caucasus.

U. S. fighter pilots bagged seven of the 18 axis planes shot down over the Egyptian battlefield yesterday, making their best score since the start of the new allied offensive.

On the whole, the day's news indicated a noticeable improvement for the allies in the three key theaters of action.

These were the highlights:
Egypt—British headquarters reported that Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery's British 8th Army made "further progress" in its five-day-old offensive to break through axis defenses on the El

Santa to Make His Scheduled Rounds

Chicago, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The rumors that Santa Claus wasn't going to climb down any chimneys this Christmas with a bagful of toys on his back, were spiked today.

True, Santa has been working against war-induced handicaps, and many of his little elves have gone to military service or war industries, but he's not going to let the kids down.

Manufacturers and distributors in Chicago's Merchandise Mart, the source of information on Santa's activity, reported he was progressing handsomely in his toy-making business.

They said chances were excellent to maintain retail sales volume for the year at the 1941 level of $225,000,000, the highest since 1929. Manufacturers long since adjusted the critical materials situation by substituting wood and cardboard and their only current problem was getting and keeping experienced toy makers.

Retails have been told despite difficulties and conversion of many shops to war work, particularly those making toy trains, "there will be enough so that no child will be toy or game hungry at Christmas."

Saboteur's Story of Arrival in U. S. Given in Court

Ernest Burger is First Witness Called in Treason Trial

Chicago, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Ernest Peter Burger testified in Federal court today that he and seven other nazi saboteurs landed in the United States from submarines last June had approximately $153,000 in cash to finance their mission of destruction.

Burger, the first witness called in the government's prosecution of three middle-aged Chicago couples on charges of treason, said each one of the saboteurs was given $5,000 in American currency of $50 denominations and $400 in smaller bills.

In addition, he related, the leaders of each of the two groups of four had an operating fund of between $50,000 and $60,000. The money was parceled out by Lieut. Walter Kapper, chief of the Brandenburg school of sabotage.

Burger is one of the two surviving members of the sabotage squad. Six were electrocuted, including Herbert Haupt, 22. The brief and unsuccessful job done by young Haupt was the principal point to be developed in the proceedings here.

Those on trial were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Haupt; his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Froehling; and two friends of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Richard Wergin. They were accused of aiding the German reich by concealing his identity, safeguarding his money and otherwise aiding his purpose, which they were alleged to have known.

As Burger resumed his testimony today the defense again objected to it as having no bearing on the treason case. Judge William J. Campbell permitted the government to continue, subject to their connecting it more closely later.

Tells of Trip to U. S.

Burger said the sabotage squad met Kapper in Berlin last May 22 and traveled by train to Paris. Then they went to the nazi submarine base at Lorient, France.

The witness identified several uniform caps of gray cloth, trimmed in yellow and bearing the nazi swastika, which he said were worn by the saboteurs in their capacity as members of the German naval infantry. He also identified a money belt and three short-handled shovels which were introduced into evidence.

Pointing to one of the shovels, he said, "That's the one I used on Long Island after we landed on the shore of the United States." The government has disclosed that explosives and other material was buried by the saboteurs on the seashore.

What Burger described as "the second group," including young Haupt, left Lorient on a submarine May 27, the day before his group departed.

This "second group," in addition to Haupt, consisted of Werner Thiel and Herman Neubauer, and was led by John Kerling. All four were executed.

Before the groups separated, Burger testified, they had a conference and agreed that their mutual aim was to go over to the United States and that they hoped to find the opportunity to see each other again there.

Landed in U. S. June 13
Burger testified that when his group boarded a submarine May 28 for the trip to the United States, the leader, George John Dasch, was given $82,000 in American bills. He related the quartet was brought ashore between midnight and 1 a. m. June 13 on Long Island. They were landed from a rubber boat, he added, and two sailors who accompanied them re-

U. S. Destroyer Gets Sub Which Hit Wasp

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 28.—(AP)—The Japanese submarine which torpedoed the U. S. aircraft carrier Wasp was in turn sent to the bottom by an American destroyer, one of the carrier's survivors declared here.

Jack H. Westbrook, 18, quartermaster aboard the Wasp, related: "I was at my battle station in the secondary control tower. I heard the first two torpedo explosions, but before the third one hit I saw the wake heading for the ship. I bent my knees so the shock wouldn't hurt my legs."

"A moment after the explosion, I saw the sub surface as a destroyer came up."

"The destroyer dropped a depth charge and I saw the sub break in two, then the bow went up and sank."

Control of Wages, Salaries Assumed by Economic Boss

Washington, Oct. 28.—(AP)—That joyous cry, "I just got a raise," probably will be heard much less frequently during the wartime emergency due to new federal regulation of all wage and salary increases.

Under rules announced yesterday the captains of industry and the lowliest wage earners both become subject to pay control—and even salary or wage decreases must be justified in certain cases.

In cases where salaries were less than $5,000 a year on October 3, no decrease may be made by the employer below the highest salary paid between January 1, 1942 and September 15, 1942, "unless to correct gross inequities or to aid in the effective prosecution of the war," except with government approval. In cases where salaries exceeded $5,000 a year on October 3 any cut must be justified to the government if it reduces the level below $5,000.

The regulations issued by Economic Director James F. Byrnes and approved by President Roosevelt generally limit public and private salaries, except those fixed by statute, to a top net of $25,000 a year with no changes to be made in general pay and wage schedules up to that amount except for such things as increased production, individual merit raises within established salary rate ranges, and individual promotions.

The treasury and War Labor Board will enforce the rules.

The purpose was to discourage wartime inflation and at the same time increase federal tax revenues by causing corporations to retain amounts formerly paid out in high salaries.

Increases Prohibited
The $25,000 salary limitation is not effective until Jan. 1, although increases are prohibited meantime.

The president, whose $75,000 salary is the only statutory federal increment exceeding $25,000, has asked the treasury, Byrnes said, that his pay be limited within the regulations.

The qualified freezing of salaries of $5,000 or less became effective yesterday and that of salaries of more than $5,000 was retroactive to Oct. 3.

Increases may be granted automatically in these classifications in cases of individual promotions or reclassifications; individual merit increases within established salary rate ranges; operation of an established system of salary increases based on service; increased productivity under an incentive plan, and in the operation of a trainee system.

Control of all wages and salaries not in excess of $5,000 was given to the War Labor Board in the case of employees represented by a labor organization of those not employed in an executive, administrative or professional capacity. The treasury department assumed jurisdiction over all other salaries.

The regulations covering salaries up to $5,000 do not apply to employers of eight persons or less.

Son of Prophet of Modern Air Warfare, Gen. Mitchell, Dies

Pine Camp, N. Y., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Lieut. John Lendrum Mitchell, 22, son of the late Brig. Gen. William (Billy) Mitchell, prophet of modern aerial warfare, died last night after a three weeks' illness with a rare blood disease.

Mitchell entered the Army infantry about three weeks ago. Mrs. Rose McMullin of Philadelphia, known as the "woman of the golden blood" because of her recovery from a comparatively rare streptococcus aureus, gave a transfusion last week-end.

Mitchell, a native of Washington, D. C., enlisted in 1940 at Milwaukee where an airfield was being dedicated to the memory of his father, and was graduated from the officers' training school at Fort Knox last summer. He served in the tank corps.

Detroit Students Among Victims of Crossing Tragedy

Passenger Train Cuts Through Crowded Bus This Morning

Detroit, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Sixteen persons, including several school pupils, were killed this morning as a passenger train sliced through a crowded Detroit Street Railways motorbus.

Bodies were strewn along the tracks for two blocks, and some were mangled against the front of the locomotive as the train, a Grand Trunk Western passenger train arriving from Chicago, pulled to a stop a quarter mile past the crossing.

The bus, driven by William F. Cios of Detroit, had stopped at the Caniff avenue crossing while a northbound freight train passed. Eye-witnesses said electric flasher signals were operating, but that after the freight passed, the bus started across the tracks into the path of the southbound passenger train.

The front end of the bus cleared the tracks, but the locomotive smashed through the vehicle at its middle doors, cutting it in half. Most of the dead were passengers in the rear end of the bus.

Schoolbooks of the younger passengers on the bus were scattered along the right-of-way. Many of the bodies, some decapitated and others with limbs severed, were impossible to identify immediately.

The first identified dead were: Norbert Turkowski, 25, Hamtramck. Robert W. Beith, 17, Detroit. Gene Chelbnik, 17, Hamtramck. Pearl Jones, age and address unavailable, who died in receiving hospital.

At least 26 persons were injured sufficiently to require hospital treatment.

The front end of the bus, hurled aside as the train struck it, was left on its side close to the intersection. The rear end was smashed to fragments and scattered.

Witness' Story

Joseph Levinski, operator in a tower at the southeast corner of the intersection, told how he watched the bus start up after the freight passed.

"The red flasher lights were still working," he said. "The passenger train was coming fast, southbound, with the engine whistle screaming. I saw this bus start up. I knew it would do no good, but I leaned out of the tower and

WMC Has Plan to Keep 'Em on Farm

Washington, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The War Manpower Commission came up today with an answer to World War number one's query of how to keep 'em down on the farm.

Seeking to ease the manpower shortage in farm production vital to the war effort, the WMC issued a directive last night calling for wage stabilization and draft deferment for dairy, livestock and poultry farmers.

In addition, it instructed government contractors to refrain from hiring workers in these types of farm production and urged other employers to do likewise.

Local draft boards were requested to grant occupational deferment to necessary men on essential farms as long as they performed their duties and the Army and Navy were asked not to recruit such workers or accept them for voluntary enlistment.

The agriculture department was called upon to stabilize wages on dairy, livestock and poultry farms to assure farmers an adequate labor supply, and to act to control the sale of dairy cows for slaughter as a check on a threatened reduction of dairy production.

Mitchell, a native of Washington, D. C., enlisted in 1940 at Milwaukee where an airfield was being dedicated to the memory of his father, and was graduated from the officers' training school at Fort Knox last summer. He served in the tank corps.

Washington, Oct. 28.—(AP)—United States casualties announced thus far in the war total 47,463 killed, wounded and missing. The figures include the 17,500 Americans and 11,000 Philippine scouts of the U. S. Army missing in action in the Philippines, many of whom probably were taken prisoner.

Army records showed 1,016 killed, 1,461 wounded, 611 missing and 61 prisoners of war, in addition to those missing in the Philippines.

Election Day Legal Holiday in Illinois

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Election day next Tuesday, Nov. 3, will be a legal holiday for banks under an Illinois election law amendment enacted by the general assembly last year.

The amendment states the day shall be considered a holiday "for all purposes as regards the presenting for payment or acceptance and of protesting and giving notice of the dishonor of bills of exchange, bank checks and promissory notes." Most banks in Illinois always have closed on election days.

Governor Green's office announced also that state offices would close on election day.

Forces Locked in Mortal Combat for Guadalcanal Field

Japanese Lose More Destroyers; Yank Navy Suffers

Washington, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The Navy reported today that troops on Guadalcanal island in the Solomons have been inflicting "very heavy" losses on the Japanese in comparison with what a naval spokesman said were comparatively light casualties among American forces.

American and Japanese warships boiled through the southwest Pacific in a titanic slugging match for control of the bomb-scarred Guadalcanal airfield today while on the island itself land forces were locked in mortal combat.

Latest reports from the battle zone showed action was continuing at a furious pace over a wide area and both President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Navy Knox said the results were not yet clear.

Two Japanese destroyers have been sunk, last night's Navy communique reported, one enemy battleship has been hit, a cruiser badly damaged and a destroyer hurt.

In the land battle on the north shore of Guadalcanal Japanese forces broke through the American south flank during the night of Oct. 25-26 but were thrown back by Army troops who regained their temporarily lost positions.

On the west flank, held by Marines against a smashing series of attacks that have been under way since last Friday, the Navy reported the enemy was forced to give ground in "heavy fighting."

At the Americans' backs was the prized airfield, built by the Japanese and captured by the Marines last August, from which United States bombers have been able to hammer at enemy shipping for miles around.

Bombers to Ship's Aid

Last night's communique told of Navy and Marine Corps dive bombers, apparently dispatched from this same field, flying to the aid of two United States minesweepers which were set upon by three enemy destroyers. Two of the destroyers were sunk.

Another enemy destroyer brought a pack of Grumman "Wildcats" from the Guadalcanal field roaring down on it after it sank the U. S. fleet tug Seminole and a small harbor patrol boat near the island of Tulagi, about 13 miles north of the field.

The Wildcats, appearing after shore batteries had slammed three shells into the destroyer, strafed and, in the language of the communique, "further damaged" it.

During the night of Oct. 26-27, Navy consolidated "Catalinas" reaped an attack on an enemy force 400 miles northeast of Guadalcanal. They succeeded in putting a torpedo into an enemy plane carrier and scoring two hits on a cruiser before heavy antiaircraft fire, which damaged one of the attacking plane, drove them off.

Further Details

"Further reports on the naval air battle which was fought to the eastward of the Stewart islands on Oct. 26," the communique said, "reveal that:

"(a) One enemy carrier was badly damaged.

"(b) A second enemy carrier was damaged.

"(c) One enemy cruiser was badly damaged.

"(d) One battleship was hit."

Both carriers had been reported damaged previously.

Control of State General Assembly at Stake Tuesday

Green Administration Has Much to Lose in Tuesday Poll

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28—(AP)—By gaining only three seats now held by Republicans, the Democrats could win control of the Illinois state senate in next Tuesday's election.

And by making the same numerical gain in the house of representatives, the Democrats could capture that branch of the general assembly too.

That puts Governor Green's administration in the position of having everything to lose and little to gain in the legislative contests, and it's causing the governor's lieutenants no little concern.

The two houses now are controlled by the same Republican majority, five votes, but it is in the senate that the GOP leadership expects its big fight.

The Democrats are concentrating their campaign efforts there in the hope of winning partial if not full control of the 63rd general assembly, which convenes next January.

While 29 senators will be elected, statehouse strategists believe the outcome in a half dozen doubtful districts will decide the issue.

Two of these are in Chicago. In one district, the first, Republican Senator Dan Serritella was defeated in the primary for renomination. In the other, the 17th, GOP Senator James B. Leonard is in a battle with Roland V. Libonati, now a Democratic member of the house.

The Kelly-Nash Democratic organization has been reported working hard to capture the two seats.

Downstate Contests

Four downstate districts in which the Democrats are pushing campaigns against Republican incumbents are:

33rd (Rock Island)—Francis J. Coyle of Moline, Democratic state representative, is opposing Senator Charles F. Carpentier in a district where many new voters have moved in to take war production jobs.

36th (Quincy)—Thomas J. Lennane, former Democratic representative, opposes Frank J. Dick, Quincy attorney, in a special election for the seat left vacant by the death of GOP Senator A. Otis Arnold.

38th (Macoupin, Montgomery, Greene and Jersey counties)—The resignation of Senator Elmer H. Droste (R-Mt. Olive), who is in the Army, produced another special election here. The Democratic nominee is Howard Manning, Jerseyville attorney, opposing Rice W. Miller, Hillsboro coal merchant. The district includes a number of coal mining communities.

47th (Madison and Bond)—Senator Norman G. Flagg, Republican, is opposed for re-election by James O. Monroe, Collinsville publisher and former senator.

Entire House Chosen

Only half the senate is up for election (odd-numbered districts, plus three specials), but the entire house membership of 153 will be chosen.

Republicans count on retaining their present majority by winning at least 79 seats as they did in 1940, compared with 74 seats to which Democrats were elected. Democrats have been reported concentrating, however, on several districts now having GOP majority representation, among them the 22nd (Danville), the 33rd (Rock Island), and the 34th, embracing Coles, Clark and Douglas counties.

The winning of either or both houses would be a top prize for the Democrats and a blow to the Republican administration. With a majority in either house, the Democrats could defeat considerable administration legislation, set up investigating committees, and otherwise strengthen their party position in the legislative halls.

Judge Orders Ziller Transfer to Piatt

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 28—(AP)—A formal order by Circuit Judge William C. Radliff yesterday transferred the trial of George W. Ziller and two co-defendants from Bloomington, to Monticello, Piatt county. Ziller is accused of confidence game and conspiracy in the alleged sale of jobs in war plants. The change of venue was granted on a plea that the defendants would not get a fair trial in McLean county.

Five Changes Made in Tax Law Affect Every Corporation

Washington, Oct. 28—There are five principal changes affecting corporations in the new tax law.

They increase the surtaxes, slap on a 90 per cent excess profits levy, place an over-all limit on taxation, provide some relief in the form of post-war rebate and current debt reduction credit, and put all corporations on a calendar year tax basis for the future.

Let's take them up one by one:

1. Normal and Surtaxes.

The normal tax rate is unchanged; for corporations with normal tax net income of not more than $25,000, the rates are 15 per cent on the first $5,000; 17 per cent on the next bracket up to $20,000; 19 per cent on the $20,000-$25,000 bracket. For corporations whose normal tax net income is over $25,000, the rate is a flat 24 per cent.

The surtax rates have been boosted. For corporations whose surtax net income is not more than $25,000, the new rate is 10 per cent. For corporations whose surtax net income is over $25,000, the new rate is 16 per cent, applicable to the whole amount.

Thus the total of corporate income tax at full rates will be 40 per cent, compared with the present 31 per cent.

2. Excess Profits Tax.

A flat 90 per cent is levied on the adjusted excess-profits net income—that is, the excess-profits net income less the excess-profits credit and a specific exemption of $5,000.

In determining the excess-profits credit by the income method, the figure of 95 per cent of average earnings in the base period (1936-39) is retained. However, in case of a deficit year or years in the base period, the law provides for increasing the base by using for one such year an amount equal to 75 per cent of the average of the other years.

For corporations using the invested-capital method of determining the credit, there are two changes in rates, for the first $5,000,000 of invested capital, the rate of 8 per cent is retained; for the next $5,000,000, the rate of 7 per cent is continued. For the amount from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000, the new rate is 6 per cent (instead of 7), and over $20,000,000, the new rate is 5 per cent (instead of 7.)

First Lady Inspects Ruins in London

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, accompanied by a Civil Defense officer, walks through bomb ruins in London. When speaking to women trainers for the Air Transport Auxiliary service recently, she was interrupted by bombings, but continued her talk throughout the raid.

000, the new rate is 5 per cent (instead of 7.)

3. Over-all Limit

A limitation on the total effective rate of income and excess profits taxes assessed against any corporation is placed at 80 per cent of corporation surtax net income (computed without any excess-profits credit).

4. Relief Provisions

A post-war credit in the amount of 10 per cent of the excess profits tax will take the form of non-negotiable, non-interest-bearing bonds to be issued to the corporation by the treasury, to be paid off after the war.

Up to the same amount, a corporation may take a credit against excess profits taxes to the extent of 40 per cent of the money it pays out during the taxable year in retirement of debt. But this credit reduces the post-war credit by its amount.

5. The Calendar-Year Basis

All corporations are placed on a calendar-year tax basis in the future. For 1942, there are two provisions: a corporation with a fiscal year which ended on or before June 30, 1942, will pay under the rates of the old law; a corporation having a fiscal year ending later than June 30 in this year will have to make two computations and pay proportionately.

WORK, SWEAT, AND THRIFT

A long time ago—maybe in Emerson's writings—read about a man who, either during or at the conclusion of the Civil War, found himself penniless and was so pleased not to have to worry about his money and savings any more, that he rolled over and over on the ground in sheer delight.

In the current emergency, none of us has quite reached that stage yet, but I think it is a fact that every healthy, sensible, and industrious person is a little pleased that work, sweat, and thrift are once more among the topmost virtues.

From work, sweat, and thrift comes character. Every self-made man is grateful for the years of self-denial, long hours, and hard work that conditioned him for his place in the world. In his later days of high position, wealth, and power he appreciates that the qualities that make him outstanding today were acquired in the early days when life was tough and often cruel.

He occasionally wished that his own children might face the realities of life as he was compelled to do, but he found that the whole social and economic system was against him. His son had to have an automobile, a tuxedo, and a fraternity pin before he earned a cent, and his daughter had to have a permanent, a manicure, and several evening gowns before she tried to fry an egg.

Well, we've made the round trip. For a long time to come it's going to be work, work, work, and save, save, save. The young people of this nation have

Charter Applies To All Humanity

Washington, Oct. 28—(AP)—The world had President Roosevelt's renewed assurance today that the Atlantic Charter "applied to all humanity."

It became known as the "Atlantic Charter," the president explained at yesterday's press conference, because the Atlantic ocean was the scene of the 1941 meeting at which it was promulgated by himself and Prime Minister Churchill.

Roosevelt authorized reporters to quote him directly to lend emphasis to his reply to Wendell Willkie's assertion Monday night that many people of Asia and eastern Europe were bewildered and anxious about America's war aims and were asking: "What about a world charter?"

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it every time

IT TAKES "know how" to do a job right. The makers of Coca-Cola have specialized in knowing how to produce refreshment.

Coca-Cola is a quality drink carefully made... with years of experience behind it. A finished art in its making, unknown to others, gives Coca-Cola an unmatched taste-appearance with an unmistakable after-sense of refreshment. A blend of special essences adds to the goodness of Coca-Cola an extra something that everybody welcomes.

More than just thirst-quenching, ice-cold Coca-Cola is the drink that goes into refreshing energy. Its refreshment pleasantly lingers, reminding you that contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coke, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola carries on.

Care For Your Car... For Your Country

THE well-dressed woman will be wearing Overalls—willingly—if that's what it takes to care for her country's cars. And on her civilian duties she doesn't go faster than 35—same as all other patriots. 35 gets you there without undue wear. But there's still another main battlefield against wear...at exactly 00 miles per hour!

When your car's stock-still, with the engine starting cold, what's faster—your Winter oil or rampant Friction? You can have hopes—or you can have your engine OIL-PLATED by the quick simple change to Conoco Nth motor oil. Enriched by an added synthetic, this patented Conoco Nth oil seems to "magnetize" OIL-PLATING to inner engine surfaces as closely and smoothly as durable chrome-plating on bumpers.

Where does any good plating go during all-day parking or overnight? It doesn't go. It stays. And neither does OIL-PLATING all go draining down to the crankcase at every chance. Long hours after you stop—long minutes before any oil from below could climb all the way up—the OIL-PLATING that's stayed up can be easing cold starts. This faithful OIL-PLATING is still there at 35-an-hour, of course, assisting the high-duty liquid film of Conoco Nth oil to keep wear just that much farther away.

Not much chance now of changing to a new car. Smart strategy is changing to an OIL-PLATED engine. Get Conoco Nth oil for Winter at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

The Mayos are noted for their generous philanthropy, having given $13,000,000 to various colleges, schools and organizations, and provided beautiful parks to the city of Rochester, Minn.

Current events were heard during roll call, and plans were discussed for aiding with Red Cross sewing.

Troubadettes Give Style Revue for USO; Between 300 and 400 Are Present

It was fortunate that not all the people who bought tickets for last evening's style show presented by The Marilyn Shop at the Loveland Community House, under sponsorship of the Troubadettes, were able to attend the revue. For the beneficiary—the USO—is an organization very close to many hearts, and the huge crowd (mostly feminine) that turned out for the event, crowded every inch of the civic center's dining room, where the revue was staged. When weary, but jubilant, committee members were through with their checking-up last night, they had estimated that between 300 and 400 patrons had attended the affair.

Toddlers, teens, fair forties, and older women did a swank job of showing fall fashions. Mrs. J. W. Sipe's Marilyn Shop supplied the housecoats, dresses, slacks ensembles, and fur coats shown. Mrs. Charles Dickey arranged a quartet of equestrians to display riding fashions, and Mrs. Frank Randall presented a group of little folks in ensembles from her Tiny Tot Shop.

One of the busiest people, except for those in charge of the costumes backstage, was Mrs. Edwin W. Merrick, Jr., whose concise and effective descriptions of the gowns and introductions of the mannequins added much to the show's success. Mrs. Myrtle Bishop provided a sparkling background of piano music for the models as they walked carefully down the ramp.

The glorious voices of the show sponsors themselves, the Troubadettes—voices that they have learned to use in a way that gives pleasure wherever they're heard—blended in two songs, "On Wings of Song" and "Take Joy Home", in a satisfying prelude to the show. Mrs. E. M. Goodsell directs the singers and Mrs. Lyle Prescott, their accompanist, was at the piano.

All in all, it was an entertaining show (even the men admitted it) when one of the youngest mannequins of the revue, Carolyn Coss, 20 months old, bestirred the audience into admiration as "No. 1" model in her two-piece corduroy dress and pink organdy pinafore. The dolly she carried was wearing pink and white flowered organdy.

Martica Heyworth, a petite four-year-old newcomer to Dixon (her parents are the James Heyworths), was wearing a ski ensemble of navy and red. Her red gabardine jacket had a fur-trimmed hood, and she carried red wool mittens.

Judith Ann Yount, three, carried a rabbit fur muff with her camel hair coat and leggings. Her hood was of wine-colored velvet. The youngest mannequin of them all, Jerry Nix, 18 months, seemed to enjoy the show as much as anybody in his three-piece suit of French blue and white wool knit, trimmed with shiny gold buttons. His toy was a red and white horse.

Mrs. Randall's own blond-haired little daughter of five years, Helen Jean, concluded her mother's part of the showing by appearing in a very full, floor-length housecoat of aqua chenille. (She had planned to carry a picture book, but at the last minute, decided she'd feel more at ease on the runway without it, and walked out with her hands comfortably tucked away in her pockets).

(She had planned to carry a picture book, but at the last minute, decided she'd feel more at ease on the runway without it, and walked out with her hands comfortably tucked away in her pockets).

The second scene brought the equestrians to the ramp. Little Janet Ketchin was wearing an all-brown habit with a cowboy hat, and carried a crop. Miss Bertha Heeger was her usual well-groomed self in another all-brown habit, and Miss Ruth Foster wore green and carried a dalmatian puppy. ("Fannie", the coach dog that has made many friends at Sorrel Top stables, was to have been in the show, but displayed a decided preference for doing her parading on the floor instead of the ramp at dress rehearsal Monday night and so, lost her opportunity to appear behind the footlights). Eugene Bentley of Sterling, the only man in the show, wore a good-looking tweed coat with his brown riding breeches.

Robes and housecoats were featured in the third scene, when Mrs. Sipe took over, to present her models. Lorraine Huck wore a pink robe, followed later by a brown crepe dress with aqua and fuchsia trim, and a silvertone muskrat coat. Gula Smith's costumes included a blue satin robe; a smart red wool dress with black fringe trim and matching hat; a green wool dressmaker suit with Persian trim and hat to match; and a black sequined afternoon dress and hat.

Mrs. George C. Leonard, a gracious and attractive newcomer from Denver, modeled a blue poppy print robe, and appeared later in royal blue corduroy slacks; a purple street dress and hat; and a red and black suit with matching hat. Mrs. Frank Wilson's housecoat was blue with ruffled insets. Her other ensembles were a purple street dress and hat; a distinctive afternoon dress of fringed black crepe, with hat, and a fur coat of gray squirrel.

Mrs. Rowena Powell was delighted to see in her robe of white chenille, and two other costumes—a dubonnet street dress with hat, and an all-black afternoon ensemble. Mrs. Edward Holbrook's first appearance showed her in a housecoat of black poppy print. Later she modeled an afternoon dress of soldier blue crepe with matching hat, and a coat of silvertone muskrat.

Mrs. Oscar Witzleb, slender and brown-haired, was an attractive figure in wine corduroy slacks. Later, she returned to the runway in brown crepe, a black sheer with pink trim, and a fur coat of skunk with black felt hat.

Blue wool slacks, with a "victory blouse", red tam and bright red corduroy jacket were the first costume donned by Kay Forbes. She also modeled a brown wool plaid top; a cloth coat with fox collar; and a black crepe dinner dress with sequin trim topped with a silver fox jacket.

Bette Witzleb was another young woman appearing in blue wool slacks with red tam and red jacket. Afterward, she returned in a cloth coat with fox collar, and a skunk coat. Maxine Gaylor made her debut as a model in a sport suit of beige wool with a brown top, and reappeared later in the show in a dress of black crepe and metallic checked taffeta.

Jean Moore's green herringbone sport suit and tan top were followed by an aqua wool dress with apricot trim, a black frock trimmed in rose dahlia, and a gown of red lame. Diane Jenks wore a brown checked sport suit with a perky green tam.

Janet Shaw, an eighth grader at South Central, modeled both a

Bridal Pair Are at Home in Dixon

Frank Daschbach, Jr., and his bride, the former Miss Jean Hartmann of Oak Park, are at home to friends at 1029 Highland avenue. The couple's marriage was solemnized at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening at the First Congregational church in Oak Park, with Dr. Albert Coe officiating.

Only members of the immediate families of the bridal pair were present for the simple, candlelit ceremony.

The bride was dressed in winter white with brown accessories, and at her shoulder was an orchid. Miss Betty Drummond of Elmhurst was her maid of honor, and Bob E. Van Korn of Chicago served Frank as best man. Corsage bouquets of gardenias were worn with the costumes of Miss Drummond, and mothers of the pair, Mrs. Fred W. Hartmann of Oak Park, and Mrs. Frank J. Daschbach, Sr. of this city.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served in the Walnut room of the Hotel Bismarck in Chicago, where Art Kassel's orchestra played for dancing.

Mrs. Daschbach was graduated from York Township high school in Elmhurst, attended Miami university in Oxford, Ohio, and is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. She has been employed at the Green River ordnance plant for some time.

The bridegroom is an alumnus of St. John's Military academy at Delafield, Wis., and later attended the University of Chicago and the University of Illinois. His fraternity is Delta Kappa Epsilon. He

GIRL SCOUTS WASH DISHES, DO ERRANDS, TO GET DIMES FOR VICTORY STAMP DRIVE

Oct. 31, the birthday anniversary of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting 30 years ago, is being celebrated by Dixon Girl Scouts during Girl Scout Week this week. Picnic suppers cooked at outdoor campfires will mark festivities of the Senior Scouts, and several Intermediate and Brownie troops, will celebrate the notable occasion with Halloween parties.

In pursuance of their aim of service, all troops are launching an inter-Scout Victory stamp drive, in which each Scout or Brownie will attempt to earn ten cents to buy a war stamp, the proceeds to go to needy children of allied nations. Caring of a neighbor's baby, doing dishes, collecting grease, raking leaves, and assisting with housework are some of the means by which the dimes are being earned.

One ten-year-old girl, in a maidless home where the mother was ill, undertook the week's bed-making to earn her dime for the Victory Stamp. Another, an eight-year-old Brownie, assumed responsibility for the welfare of the family pets for a week. Others did errands in a tire-conserving family.

In previous years, Girl Scouts of America have raised funds during Girl Scout Week to pay for the exchanging of camperships with other nations. Troop leaders and council members from other countries have trained at Camp Edith Macy near New York City, a professional camp for Scout leaders. Camp Edith Macy, was the assembling place for Girl Scouts of other nations.

Last year, the Girl Scouts of America bought two ambulances for Britain with proceeds of Girl Scout Week. Plans for post-war distribution of these dimes are not made, but the funds will be used to meet whatever emergency arises.

The Juliette Low fund is distinctly a Girl Scout contribution, earned and donated by the girls themselves, without assistance from the public.

SCHOOL PARTY AT ST. MARY'S

Children of St. Mary's school will be entertained at a Halloween party at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening in the school hall. Prizes are promised for the best costumes, and there will also be an entertainment and refreshments. All children of the school are invited to attend.

ENTERTAIN FOR SON AND BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peterson entertained at dinner last evening for their youngest son, Fred, and his bride of a week, the former Miss Betty Lee of Denver, Colo. Fred, a chief petty officer, third class, claimed Miss Lee as his bride, Oct. 21 in Reno.

The Dixon couple's son, who is serving his second enlistment, is being transferred from the Pacific to a new base on the Atlantic.

A Thought for Today

And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfection.—Colossians 3:14.

CHARITY.

Which renders good for bad, blessings for curses —Shakespeare.

Crusade, or War of Survival?

There is a vast difference between a crusade and a war of survival. Crusades of the middle ages were undertaken to get the infidels out of the holy city of Jerusalem, to rescue the sepulchre from unbelievers.

Fired with religious fervor (and perhaps with the hope of loot) the crusaders marched thousands of miles to skirt the eastern end of the Mediterranean, or embarked on hazardous voyages to cross it. They invaded the Levant, fought gory battles, slew or were slain by the hundreds of thousands. Some one said in print the other day that 3 million Christians were killed in the various crusades.

The crusades were voluntary on the part of the leaders. There may have been individual lordships and leaders who might have preferred to stay at home with their feet in the oven, but were forced by public opinion to march to the wars. The fellows who were chilled steel underwear may be said to have gone voluntarily. But in those feudal days their retainers, flunkies, lackeys, swordbearers, grooms and other bootlickers went along whether they wanted to or not. In those days it was considered good sport for a noble, returning from the hunt, to pick off a couple of carpenters working on a roof, for instance. In fact they had to prohibit the shooting of more than two of them on any one occasion because of the manpower situation.

No doubt the flunkies taken to Jerusalem to rescue the holy sepulchre would have preferred to have a little more Christianity at home and a little less zeal about who ruled the geographical origin of the faith. But they went along anyhow.

A war of survival is vastly different from a crusade. In a war of survival you either destroy the other fellow or he destroys you. In a war of survival the world is not large enough for both you and your enemy.

This war in which we are now engaged has been called by the president of the United States a war of survival. In fact, he wanted it to be named so, officially. If the president's conception is correct, we either destroy the axis or it destroys us. The world is not large enough for both the dictators and the peoples ruled in democratic fashion.

If the president's followers would get together and agree upon whether this is a crusade or a war of survival, the rest of the people's brains would quit reeling in their sockets. Wallace says this war is an effort to see that everybody on earth gets a quart of milk every day. On that basis, we'd say it's a crusade.

On that basis, also, we'd suggest that the outburst of Editor Luce of Time magazine the other day is something to make the welkin ring. Mr. Luce intimated that the United States could withdraw from the war unless the British adhere to his peculiar conception of united strategy.

Now if this is a crusade, we can withdraw from it with nothing worse than red faces, higher taxes and a comparatively few black arm bands. If it is a war of survival we can't withdraw from it even if the British were to go over and join the axis. In a war of survival you either fight until the other fellow is dead, or until you are dead—unless somebody turns yellow and submits to slavery.

If Luce intended to brand this war as a crusade from which it is possible for us to withdraw, then he did immeasurable harm.

The common man, however, may wisely decide to ignore the nature of the war and concentrate upon winning it. We've been attacked, and we will rub the other fellow's nose in the mud. To heck with other considerations.

Railroads on the Job

Since last April, according to a statement by Railway Age, the railroad companies and Pullman have been accommodating the largest volume of passenger traffic in history, and with a third fewer cars than were available in the former peak year, 1920. Admitting there has been some crowding of trains, the companies plan to care for still larger numbers of travelers when gas rationing goes into effect in the rest of the country. More thorough cooperation between companies is expected to make this possible.

Gasoline rationing, however, has not had entirely predictable results. During the two years prior to June, 1940, railroad travel increased 106 per cent in the country as a whole. In the gas rationed east, however, railroad travel increased only 75 per cent, while in the south the hike was 226 per cent.

Usable Articles

Two over-enthusiastic New York youngsters threw almost new bicycles into the scrap collection pile. This was a perfect example of what Uncle Sam does not want.

To beat Hitler we need every pound of metal, rubber, etc., which is not usable. But we cannot afford to throw away serviceable items which, to replace, would require the use of factory capacity and manpower.

Naturally, such things shouldn't be left lying around if we can't use them ourselves. But don't put them with the scrap. If you do not know anybody who needs them, and who would have to buy them otherwise, how about one of the many charitable agencies that would gladly see that they are used to advantage?

Watch the Quality

Now that prices are to be fixed on virtually every commodity and service, the OPA fears that there will be attempts to chisel on quality—either to cheapen products or substitute lower grades for those on which the fixed price depends.

It is the buyer's privilege and duty to be on guard against such violations of the anti-inflation law and regulations. There aren't enough men and women on the government's huge payroll to police prices and qualities without the aid of consumers.

And, after all, it is for our benefit.

CRACKUP

CHAPTER XVI

YOU'D look so sweet,

Upon the seat—(if we had another seat!)

Of a bicycle built for two—o-o-o!

Duane Hogan sang that, with interpolation, in a deeply Texan basso as he pedaled in the same rhythm out toward the athletic field. Behind him clung what could have been mistaken for a child. She sat on the rigid package carrier over the fender, her shapely legs held forward so toes wouldn't touch the ground. Her dark curls reached hardly up to his shoulder. She clung to his cadet uniform belt.

"I like it better this way," she laughed back at his sally. "If we really had a bicycle built for two, I'd have to help pedal!"

"So! You want a man to do all the work!"

"Sure thing!"

"Oughtn't a law against women?"

"Men would soon repeal it."

"Oh-h-h-h no they wouldn't!"

"Oh-h-h-h yes they would!"

You could cut up thus with Duane Hogan; happily, youthfully, on the rare occasions when you could be alone with him. He never said very much, never talked like some men. But his strength and good humor pervaded his whole life. It was one reason why Blythe loved him. One reason for being frantic because he had never shown any love for her in turn.

"I'm gonna be disgraced if the gang sees me riding a girl's bike," he lamented now. "Towing a girl."

"It was your idea," she reminded him.

"I never could think. Papa always said I ought to be a—"

"So, you admit it!"

"Hush! Or I'll make him buck you off."

"This isn't a horse. This isn't your ranch, either; this is Lincoln boulevard, mister!"

"Nnnn!" He pretended to growl.

BACK of their easy banter was the knowledge that each concealed serious thoughts. Duane faced a deadly earnest business of learning to fight in the air.

More immediately, he nursed a burning desire to win a football game this week, because his beloved coach and friend, Pop Miller, was in some kind of trouble. Blythe had hinted of that trouble. He thought he understood; Pop wanted to beat State U. again, this time as a flying-field coach. And here he was sick in bed.

When Duane was silent for a block or so, Blythe turned serious.

"Duane," she asked, surprisingly, "do you have a pistol?"

"Do I—huh?"

"Please, I'm not joking."

"Sure I have. But why?"

"Never mind. Would you lend it to me?"

"Whatcha gonna shoot? Japs?"

"I am not joking, Duane."

"Okay, then, I'll bring it over, tonight."

"Thanks so much."

"But I'm still curious. After all, lady, a gun—"

"It's for Pop."

"Pop? ... What's a gun got to do with winning a game?"

"I—I don't know! But, Duane—"

"—please! We're friends, you and Pop and I. You—you better just—trust us. And not say anything."

He considered that, pedaling in powerful, deliberate strides. "Huh," he murmured. "Where I come from, pistols are used to—"

"I know. It scares me, too. But Pop asked me to borrow one. I told you Pop was in trouble, but I don't know enough to tell you what kind."

"You don't say!"

He stopped the bike, the better to talk to her. When he turned, his face showed deep concern.

"Listen, Bly," he spoke intently, low, "if Pop needs that—he moistened his lips—"I mean, if it's that kind of help Pop wants, then let me use the gun! Me!"

"Oh, Duane! ... No. No, it'll have to be my way, I'm afraid. Until—at least until we know more. I do know this much, he needs it for protection. And you must promise to say nothing. To go right out with the rest of the team and be yourself! Understand? ... Practice hard and—"

and kid everybody and keep the spirit up. Don't let anything spoil the team's morale, even if Pop shouldn't be able to come!"

HE looked at her a long moment, then resumed pedaling again. And Blythe knew he would question her no more. He had already said a great deal more than was his custom. But she couldn't end it quite so abruptly.

"Duane, it's kind of personal, I guess. But it concerns Pop and it concerns the team. And it concerns Nancy Hale."

She tacked that last hint on, purposely. Would he now show wild, desperate concern? For the other girl?

Bly waited. Duane kept on pedaling as if he had never heard at all. Finally he said, calmly, "I'll stick around. The commandant has already said I could take my duties easy this week. He meant leave of absence, if needed. I'll stick around, Bly."

That's all he ever said about it, and Blythe herself volunteered no more. As to his feelings concerning Nancy, she had learned exactly nothing.

When Nancy had telephoned, that note of urgency in her voice was definite. But Bly was almost afraid to face her again.

Afraid, this time, not because Nancy was making an admitted play for Duane Hogan's love, and had even asked Bly's help in winning him; but afraid because of what she had overheard on the stairs.

Nancy Hale had said "All right" when a gambler's agent had offered her $1000 to drug two football men. One of them—worse—was Duane. Not only would Nancy sacrifice team spirit, friendship, all the finer loyalties, but for money she would even sacrifice love itself! Blythe's first quick impulse to expose Nancy had been stifled when she remembered baby Scooter Hale. And, too, there's just naturally something despicable about a tattler. Run quick and get the police after the girl who had stolen her boyfriend? No; Bly couldn't bring herself to that. Not yet.

They were nearing Pop's office when Nancy ran outside to meet them. Both Duane and Bly sensed her concern.

"Bly," she began at once. "Duane. Listen—the field hospital called. Heavy Underwood is hurt! There was a plane crashup at dawn. He and the instructor both hurt. And I—Pop Miller is sick, I'm afraid it may—the team!"

The import of this was obvious. Heavy Underwood was the real power of the Lincoln football line. The great charging center. The team's third man, following only Norman Dana and Duane.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington, Oct. 27.—Brigadier General Brehon Somervell has stepped on a couple of important toes which happen to be sensitive, those of War Production Director Donald Nelson and Man-Powerer Paul McNutt.

It seems that General Somervell's old tangle with Nelson on the distribution of war materials, and the various intricacies of unresolved conflicting powers between the war department and WPB, has been followed by a tangle with McNutt over the manpower draft policies.

As a matter of fact, McNutt was none too assertive in his appearance before the senate committee on the man-power problem. Very significantly, he said that he would only present a report to the president, and broadly suggested that he did not propose to speak for the administration.

His strong views for an arbitrary draft have never been approved by any other authority in the government, and there is every indication that Roosevelt will recommend another course, in which case both Somervell and McNutt might find their current argument purely academic.

Somervell is an old associate of Harry Hopkins from WPA days in New York, but Hopkins has not been seen around up front much lately.

McNutt is the most prominent, if not the only, presidential candidate for 1944 yet in the field, as far as front pages are concerned.

Thus, the fate of two of the most prominent personalities of the administration are involved in the president's impending decision on the critical man-power problem.

The Japs seem to be playing some kind of new oriental fan tan with the Tokyo propaganda lately. To turn up publicly with eight prisoners from the Doolittle raid, seven months after they were captured, seemed a strange circumstance in itself, but to announce that these men had confessed they had orders to bomb non-military objectives, such as schools, churches and hospitals, is an absurdity which even the Japanese cannot expect anyone to believe.

Some uninformed civilians might believe these various stories put out by both sides, blatantly and continuously, by Hitler and the Japs, that churches, schools, hospitals and such are being savagely destroyed by us and the British. But, any thinking person can see that no one carries a bomb into enemy territory at great effort and expense to waste it on such inconsequential (militarily) objectives.

Such objectives may be hit occasionally when they are near railroad tracks, shipyards or oil refineries. But when they are hit, it is a very inefficient and foolish mistake of the pilot. He is just not doing the job he was sent to do.

This is the silliest of all axis propaganda, obvious fiction which they only expect the very, very stupid to believe, and hardly worth the trouble of putting it out. The only mystery is why Tokyo chose to use it at this time.

The whole affair suggests the Japanese people are uneasy at the lack of favorable war news in the past few months, and that Tokyo is forced to resort to digging news out of the past, and flavoring it with fairy tales for home consumption.

The average Washington guess is that the Republicans will gain 20 to 22 seats in the house this fall and 5 in the senate. That probably represents a consensus of opinion among congressional and political leaders.

The Dunn survey, which is respected among business people, predicts a Republican gain of 30 to 33 seats, but 52 are needed for a Republican majority.

No one, therefore, seems to be predicting a Republican house as yet, except a few Republican leaders who have gotten together with their pencils and worked out the possibility that they might win by a majority of 10 but most expect about 25 seats will be gained, not enough to give a Republican majority.

Announcement of 507th Sinking in Western Waters

(By The Associated Press) The captain of a small Norwegian merchant vessel, torpedoed and sunk off the northern coast of South America in late September, was hauled aboard a German submarine by a line to give particulars about his ship and then released, the Navy disclosed today in announcing the sinking. He swam back to the raft and was rescued 16 hours later.

The ship was attacked shortly after midnight, and the vessel sank less than a minute after her boilers were exploded by a torpedo hit on the starboard side, the Navy related.

Eight survivors of a crew of 23 were left floundering in the water, and the captain and one seaman managed to reach a floating raft. Others club to bits of wreckage.

The submarine surfaced and asked for the captain. After being taken aboard the sub, he was quizzed in English by an officer who repeated his answers to the sub commander, also in English.

All eight survivors of the sinking were picked up by a United Nations naval vessel and taken to a South American port.

This sinking and two announced yesterday, one an American ship and the other a British freighter, brought to 507 The Associated Press tabulation of announced United and neutral nations' cargo ship losses in the western Atlantic since last Dec. 7.

Two More Days Given for Fuel Oil Dealers of County to Register

All primary suppliers, secondary suppliers and dealers in fuel oil, kerosene and Diesel oil were supposed to have registered with their local war price and rationing board on October 27th and 28th.

However, the Lee county board finds there are numerous dealers who have not registered and for their convenience the board office will remain open Thursday and Friday evenings, October 29th and 30th, from 7:00 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. in order for those dealers to register who can not come in during the day. The office is located in the city hall at Dixon.

It is imperative that all dealers register this week and the local office urges that all dealers cooperate.

Fair Enough by WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt, who tried so hard to prevent the nomination of John Bennett by the Democrats for the office of governor of New York, has now given him a second belated endorsement, but Bennett remains, nevertheless, a free man, with no political obligations to the White House or the new deal party. This time, Roosevelt made it good and strong, saying: "As a citizen and voter of New York, I express the sincere hope that you and not Mr. Dewey will be our next governor." But Bennett and Jim Farley, who got him the nomination in a knockdown contest with the president and the new deal, are wise enough to know that the president had to do this. He couldn't endorse Dewey, and if he had approved Dean Alfange, the nominee of the European element known as the American Labor Party, he would have made Dewey's election certain.

The upshot of it all is that right now the new deal is rebuked in New York, for both Bennett and Dewey are reactionaries. That is to say that they are anti-Socialist and anti-Communist Americans and, in addition, it can be said with certainty that they are opposed to a fourth term for President Roosevelt and that in the 1944 convention Bennett will oppose any attempt by Roosevelt to name his successor.

This is not debate. It is obvious fact.

Everyone in politics knows that Jim Farley has broken with Roosevelt, both personally and politically, and that he has not given up hope that he may be nominated in 1944. And everyone in politics knows, moreover, that if Farley sees that he cannot be nominated himself he will yield his own ambition and join with other influential Democrats to oppose the new deal in the 1944 convention.

The president's letter to Bennett contained a very unpleasant intimation that Dewey would not uphold the national government in the conduct of the war if he were elected.

"I accept as a fact that I can count on full co-operation and unity between the conduct of the affairs of New York state and those of the national government if you are elected," he wrote.

Inasmuch as the letter also mentioned Dewey by name that plainly suggests that he could not count on co-operation and unity between the state and national government if Dewey should win. There is, of course, no basis for that intimation, for Dewey is as patriotic and as loyal to the national government against the enemies in the war as Roosevelt, himself, or any other man.

However, it is sure that if Dewey should be elected, he would tear into the corrupt new deal organization, which uses a front of idealism but collaborates with crooked local and state machines wherever they exist, and would do his best to send many influential crooks to prison. In particular, in Albany he would go after the disgraceful local machine which has prospered for years under the eyes of Governors Roosevelt and Lehman and would run down a good many of the union crooks who have had license to rob workers and employers under the new deal's labor policy.

Lately Bennett has stirred himself to break up one local ring of union crooks in Newburgh, where the parasites of the crooked AFL organization have stolen brazenly, Edward G. O'Neill, an assistant to Bennett, went into Newburgh and did a careful, surefooted job and recently got indictments, out his action was so belated that it had the look of a political play intended to beat Dewey to the punch. It is pointed out that Bennett lacked the authority to initiate this investigation without orders from Governor Lehman, which doubtless is true. But that only shows that the governor, himself, played politics by delaying his move against a notorious condition until the indictments could be timed to indicate a repudiation of crookedness in unionism at the eleventh hour.

Dewey has been a fine public servant in the offices in which he has served to date and there is certainly no reason to believe that he would be less able or energetic than Bennett as governor. On the contrary, his record indicates greater initiative and aggressiveness.

However, Bennett is a firm man and, considering his close association with Farley and Farley's detestation of the Socialism and Communism, the sordidness and trickery of new dealism, it may be accepted that he will just take the president's support as a gift forced from him by political circumstances and will help Farley in 1944, owing no debt to the president or the new deal party.

Crossing the Bar

Sunset and evening star, And one clear call for me, And may there be no moaning of the bar When I put out to sea. But such a tide as moving seems asleep, Too full for sound and foam, When that which drew from out the boundless deep, Turns again home. Twilight and evening bell, And after that the dark, And may there be no sadness of farewell When I embark; For, though from out our bourne of time and place The flood may bear me far, I hope to see my Pilot face to face. When I have crossed the bar.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Hick's funeral home. Rev. C. C. Crickette officiated. Funeral hymns were sung by Mrs. Chas. Howard and Miss Bertha Zoeller. Mrs. Ruth Kelley and daughter Miss Maxine had charge of the floral offerings which were very beautiful and showed the high esteem of Mrs. Bratton. Burial was in the Franklin cemetery. When the Nov. 6 playoff games are arranged, Princeton will represent the Southern division of the N. C. I. C. against the Northern circuit champion.

It was announced yesterday that Princeton won the flip of the coin which decided the Southern title. At the conclusion of conference play, they were tied for the lead with Rock Falls with two wins, no losses, and one tie.

As only one team could play the Northern champion for the league crown, the head-tail coin method of selection was used. The coin was flipped by a member of the State High School Athletic Association.

It seems hardly fair to deliberately confuse the readers of this column but that is just what I am going to do.

The Southern division only had to worry about a two way tie; Northern officials might find themselves faced with a three-way knot for the title when the last league games have been played Friday night.

At the present time, the Dixon Dukes hold undisputed possession of the lead. If they defeat Ottawa, the crown will be theirs.

But, if they lose to the Pirates, all sorts of complications may result.

Then the Dukes and Bucs would share equal portions of the No. 1 spot in the standings and DeKalb, by turning back Sterling, would make it a three-way affair.

Dixon now boasts a 2-0-1 record while DeKalb and Ottawa have each won 2, lost one.

Sterling and Hall Township have definitely been eliminated from the title race, but the boys from the twin-cities still have a chance to tie for second.

Supposing Dixon whips Ottawa and Sterling overruns the Barbs. Dixon cops the crown and the other three teams each claims the runner-up honors.

It's a mess, ain't it?

But at least one thing is certain. Hall Township is the undisputed holder of the cellar dwelling. Mendota and Geneseo will play this weekend to decide who will fight the Spring Valley gridders for the conference booby prize.

Some sort of adjustments will have to be made before the playoff games, Nov. 6, as the Northern half of the league has 5 members, while the Southern schools only number four.

A possible solution is that Sterling, in case it does not finish near the top, would step out of the conference picture and play its scheduled game with Clinton, Iowa, on that date.

If that is the case Princeton would engage the Northern titlist; Rock Falls would meet the runner-up; the loser of the Geneseo-Mendota bout would compete with Hall Township; and the victor would face the remaining Northern squad.

Any member of the Chicago University science school staff would be glad to untangle the above mess for you. When that's been done, come around and explain it to me, will you?

BARNHART STARS

Paul Potts, former Dixon Duke griddier, keeps a sharp eye on football talent from Dixon as he circulates about Iowa, experiencing no trouble in selling his wares. He is a salesman for a large packing house.

In a letter to The Telegraph, Paul encloses a clipping from an Iowa paper, which lauds the Iowa Teachers college football team of Cedar Falls. One of the outstanding players on the squad is Don Barnhart of Dixon whose picture is shown in connection with the article. Barnhart, husky tackle at 24, is the oldest member of the squad, the average age being between 19 and 20 years.

"I have seen Don play in a few games and everyone thinks a lot of him out here," Paul says in his commentary. Barnhart played on the same team with Potts at the Dixon high school a few years ago, both being linemen.

LINCOLN LANES

Foster and Codute formed the winning combination in the Simmons doubles handicap matches at Lincoln Lanes last night with a three game total of 1287. That was 43 pins better than Dickerson and Carlson's second-place 1244. The Welsh-Parrella team was third, 1220.

Schuler's 234 was tops in individual scoring, while Snidebrush was second with 226. Van Aiken had low game, 145.

Other scores: Leonard-Rhodes, 1069; Smith-Leonard, 1103; Brotherton-Sumpton, 1211; Lamkin-Fry, 1116; Lind-Dewey, 1083; Schuler-Van Aiken, 1106; McLain-Osborne, 1036; Temple-Div, 1108; Bick-DeVries, 1111; Hanke-Hewett, 1159; Allen-Myers, 1053; Snidebrush-Dixon, 1078; Tingley-Barloga, 1162; Parr-Thompson, 1022; Rhodamel-Temple, 1094; Parker-Alton, 1141; Heckman-Peterson, 1114; Saunders-Roth, 1043; Hostettler-Flannagan, 1112; and Rindge-Bailey, 1054.

Tip your hat to the 1100 keepers. Last night the G. R. O. P. league team, tied for fourteenth in the standings, rose up to swat the Comptrollers No. 1 two out of three, thus knocking them from their perch at the head of the parade into a tie for second with the Engineering Dept.

The engineers missed their chance to pass the comptrollers when they allowed the Purchasing Dept. to win one of the three games in the series.

Police Dept. No. 2 and Safety Dept. No. 1 remained knotted for third after capturing two out of three of their intra-departmental sets with Police No. 1 and Safety No. 2, respectively.

Ordinance No. 1 was a 2-1 victor in its match with Comptrollers No. 3 to keep its hold on fifth.

Illinois Expects to Win Games

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 28—(AP)—Tony Blazine, former lineman with the Chicago Cardinals and New York Giants and now assistant to Ray Elliot at the University of Illinois, explains the 1942 football attitude of the Illini this way: "There might have been a time when the Illini hoped to win. Now they expect to win."

Gus Dorais Refutes Two Old Maxims

Rockne's Buddy Example That Football, Politics Do Mix

Detroit, Oct. 28—(AP)—Gus Dorais is the living refutation of not only the notion that football and politics don't mix but also that a jack-of-all-trades is master of none.

Gray-topped, 51-year-old Dorais, an old teammate and buddy of the late Knute Rockne, is among other things an athletic director, a lawyer, a city councilman in the nation's fourth largest municipality, a much-sought-after public speaker and a football coach. Maybe his coaching should be mentioned first, for currently his University of Detroit is the undefeated and untied winner of four games.

At Detroit Dorais has been on the job 18 years. Now that Bob Zupke is gone, he probably has the longest continuous service record at any major football power in the nation. To date, Dorais' Detroit teams have won 112 and lost 44, which means that his club has a 3 to 1 chance every time it takes the field. His average is nearly seven victories a season.

This year Detroit has yielded only one touchdown while rolling to victories over a home-town rival, Wayne university, and Fort Knox, Manhattan and Georgetown. The high scoring Marquette eleven is next, and then come Villanova, Arkansas, Oklahoma, A. & M., and St. Mary's.

Dorais was a pioneer forward passer, his pitches to Rockne having whipped the Army and astounded the east some 30 years ago, so it isn't particularly astonishing to note that Detroit teams lean heavily to the pass. Dorais' current passing star is Elmer (Tipper) Madarik, 185-pound Joliet, Ill., junior, who is a hard runner, too.

Aside from football, Dorais seems to find ample time for his other pursuits. In the city council his attendance record is among the best. His many other duties are handled to complete satisfaction. And this year in football he has a family problem.

Detroit's third string quarterback is 21-year-old Tommy Dorais, eldest of the coach's five children. Tommy was outstanding in high school football. His dad shipped him off to Notre Dame, but the boy came back, asking to play at Detroit.

When Detroit's players signed a petition ten days ago asking that Tommy be given more, not fewer opportunities, Dorais shrugged his shoulders and pointed to the greater experience of the other quarterbacks. And Tommy hasn't been off the bench since.

Two More Pass Tossers at TCU

By NEA Service

Fort Worth.—If the Southwest Conference were playing freshmen, spectators would be seeing a lot of Martin Jarrell.

Jarrell, a Fort Worth boy, and Tom Bishop of Killean are Poliwogs displaying varsity skill for Texas Christian.

They teamed to score the Frosh's winning touchdown on the last play of one game.

Jarrell and Bishop are expected to maintain the Horned Frogs' line of remarkable passers, which saw Sammy Daugh, Davey O'Brien and currently Emery Nix.

Buck-Badger Tilt Has Box Office Punch

Big Ten, National Championships Likely to Be Decided

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28—(AP)—There is no old oaken bucket or little brown jug at stake in Wisconsin's homecoming battle with Ohio State here Saturday but the contest between the undefeated eleven packs plenty of box office punch in other ways.

Those who have been lucky enough to get pasteboards—the ticket office expects a near sell-out—may see in action the new Western Conference titleholder or even the next mythical national champion.

Ohio State, unbeaten and untied in five game, this season, has been parked in the number one spot on the Associated Press' nation's honor grid list for the past three weeks while Wisconsin, with five victories and a tie with Notre Dame, is in sixth place.

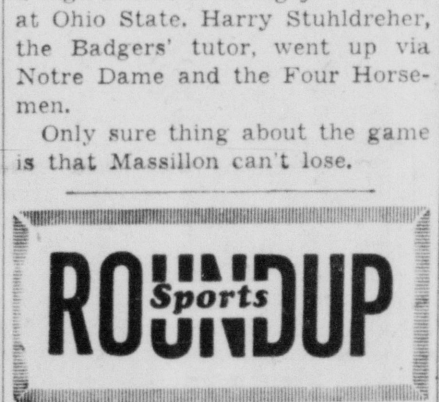

The game, which the super-charged Buckeyes are favored to win, has a two-for-the-price-of-one attraction for a thrifty grid fan.

Sophomore Stars Clash

In action on the field at the same time will be Ohio State's Gene Fekete, fullback, and Badger halfback Elroy Hirsch, two of the foremost sophomore backfield men in the country. Fekete so far has piled up eight touchdowns and 12 extra points for a total of 60. Hirsch has tallied five times and pitched one scoring aerial. For good measure there are Badger fullback Pat Harder, leading Big Ten scorer and ground gainer last year, and Buckeye halfback Paul Sarringhaus, who skipped through the Northwestern Wildcats for two markers last Saturday.

Out of this game of the week may come the coach of the year. On benches on opposite sides of the field will sit two former high school quarterbacks who grew up in Massillon, Ohio. The Buckeyes' Paul Brown bonded from a high school coaching job to boss at Ohio State. Harry Stuhldreher, the Badgers' tutor, went up via Notre Dame and the Four Horsemen.

Only sure thing about the game is that Massillon can't lose.

New York, Oct. 28—(AP)—No matter what may happen to sports in the next year or so—and you can be sure something will happen when the Army takes in a few more batches of athletes—the big aircraft companies will keep on with competitive athletics. They're sold on "the effect of championship principle upon morale" . . . Paul S. Gilbert, who handles the huge sports program that has grown up in the Grumman aircraft plants, claims that the men get rivalries started in softball or bowling and then work just as hard to outdo one another on the production line . . . And do the employees like it? Well, they will stretch a softball game over two or three days by playing a few inning each lunch hour; they will work 56 hours a week and try to train for boxing in their spare time and they will start bowling matches at 8 a. m. when they come off the night shift.

When Detroit's players signed a petition ten days ago asking that Tommy be given more, not fewer opportunities, Dorais shrugged his shoulders and pointed to the greater experience of the other quarterbacks. And Tommy hasn't been off the bench since.

Jarrell and Bishop are expected to maintain the Horned Frogs' line of remarkable passers, which saw Sammy Daugh, Davey O'Brien and currently Emery Nix.

Army Stars Starred Elsewhere; Mack Coached Champ Pro Team

New York, Oct. 28—(AP)—If you have been wondering how the U. S. military academy could lose 34 of the 44 members on its football squad of a year ago and still approach the coming November with an unbeaten eleven, perhaps this will help you . . . Bud Troxell, the Cadet fullback, played for Dartmouth last season . . . Substitute halfback Bob Woods was a first stringer at Navy last fall before flunking.

Remember, Connie

Perhaps even Connie Mack has forgotten that he coached the champion pro football team of the state of Pennsylvania in 1902. When the Philadelphia National league baseball club sponsored a pro eleven in 1901, the Athletics retaliated the next season with a club and Mack as coach.

The Mackmen walloped the Phils and then went to Pittsburgh for the state title game. It ended in a tie but on the following Sunday the Athletics won, 12 to 6.

Connie had his gridders warm up for the Pittsburgh scrap by playing at Elmira on Friday, another game on Saturday. They cooled off with a fourth game in four days at Williamstown on Monday.

It was when the Monday game promised to be small that Mack sent his star baseball pitcher, Rube Waddell, to parade the town wearing a placard. Waddell visited the high school during the noon hour and approximately a thousand students missed school hat afternoon.

Pulliam told the Illinois Association of School Boards, here for the organization's annual convention, that many teachers were quitting their school posts because of low salaries.

Employment of former teachers who are married and a "recruiting drive" to interest women college students in teaching also was advocated by the Southern Illinois University president.

Chicago, Oct. 28—(AP)—Wendell Phillips high school will keep its football date with Du Sable at Soldier Field Saturday because the prep gridders said they believed Coach Leonard Sachs, who died yesterday, would want it that way. Sachs, 44, gained national prominence as basketball coach at Loyola University, where he was for the last 19 years.

Other Things Are at Stake Besides Title

Ohio State, Wisconsin Will Also Battle for Statistics Rank

Chicago, Oct. 28—(AP)—Ohio State and Wisconsin, it seems, will have a few other matters to decide Saturday besides the question of which team shall continue undefeated in the Western Conference title race.

Big Ten statistics rank Ohio State, the No. 1 offensive team of the league with Wisconsin right behind, although the Badgers have played only one conference game to the Buckeyes' three. Defensively, it's Wisconsin in front with Ohio State running second.

Even among the individual players there will be honors at stake. Gene Fekete, Ohio State's sophomore sensation and conference scoring leader, tops the ball carriers in rushing with an average gain a game of 125 yards. Pat Harder of Wisconsin, 1941 conference leader in scoring and rushing, is runner up with 99. Then comes another Buckeye, Paul Sarringhaus, with 85.3. Of the three, Sarringhaus has the best record per try, one of 6.5 yards to Fekete's 5 yards, and Harder's 3.9.

Strong Ground Attacks
That the two teams rely heavily on their ball carriers is further shown by forward passing figures. Ohio State, with an average gain a game of 58.6 yards, is fourth in the league; Wisconsin with 36, is last.

But on the ground, Saturday's rivals run far ahead. The Buckeyes have been averaging 326 yards a game and Wisconsin 245. With the exception of Indiana and Northwestern, these figures surpass even the combined rushing and passing totals of each of the other conference teams.

Trailing the leaders in average yards gained a game were Indiana, 187 rushing, 88 passing, 275 total; Northwestern, 77-175-252; Michigan, 179-44-223; Iowa, 122-70-192; Minnesota, 132-57-189; Illinois 134.5-51.5-186; Purdue 52-50-102.

On defense the teams ranked in this order: Wisconsin, permitted an average of 35 yards by rushing a game, 104 by passing, 139 total; Ohio State, 74.5-81.6-156.1; Illinois, 100-69-169; Minnesota, 126-47-173; Northwestern, 221-26-247; Iowa, 172-80-262; Michigan, 95.5-179.5-275; Purdue 236-50-286; Indiana 246-80-326.

AMAZING ACE: CAPT. EDDIE RICKENBACKER, LOST IN PACIFIC, HAS SURVIVED MANY PERILS AS RACING DRIVER, PILOT, AIRLINE EXECUTIVE

RICK THE RACER—Born in Columbus, O., in 1890, Eddie Rickenbacker was famous as a racing driver by the time he was 20. Young Rick brushed often with danger on the Indianapolis speed track.

GENERAL'S DRIVER—In 1917 he went to war as General Pershing's chauffeur, above, using this as a stepping stone to flying. After a short stint as an air force mechanic, Rickenbacker learned to fly in three weeks.

HAT IN THE RING—Capt. Edward Vernon Rickenbacker became America's No. 1 World War ace. As a member of the famous 94th Hat-in-the-Ring Squadron, and later its commander, he bagged some 25 German planes. Despite all his hazardous fighting in the "Flying Circus," Rick had only one accident. He came home in 1919 a national hero without a scar on his body. Turned down movie offers to go into the automobile industry.

HERO HONORED—Rickenbacker wore his war uniform in 1930 when he received belatedly Congressional Medal of Honor. Other medals: Croix de Guerre, Legion of Honor, Distinguished Service Cross.

FIGHT FOR AIR POWER—Gen. William "Billy" Mitchell, seated, as World War I Army air chief, helped Rickenbacker get into flying. Afterwards they were staunch friends and both recognized the importance of air power in the modern war picture. Rick backed Mitchell at famous

FLYER AND FAMILY—A proud father as well as an ace aviator, Rickenbacker is pictured here with his wife and two sons, William, now 14, and David, now 17. In 1934 the flyer turned from aviation manufacturing to air transport, set a transcontinental record in an Eastern Air-liner, later became the line's president.

FIRST CRACKUP—Despite the perils of race driving and dog fighting, Rickenbacker's closest escape from death was when the Eastern Air Lines plane on which he was a passenger crashed near Atlanta on Feb. 27, 1941. Pinned for hours in the wreckage in which seven died, he suffered broken hip, crushed chest, internal injuries.

THUMBS UP—From hospital bed where he missed first Indianapolis speedway race in years, Rick flashes his famous smile. After recovery, he turned his technical knowledge to aiding war effort.

RICKENBACKER IN 1942—The Hat-in-the-Ring comes back in World War II. At a California airfield, Captain Eddie autographed the insignia for Lieut. Glenn Hubbard, representing the 1942 counterpart of the old 94th pursuit squadron. A few months later the eagle of '18 left on an inspection trip of Pacific bases.

Here's What Illinois Candidates Say in Their Campaigns

Chicago, Oct. 28 — (AP)—Illinois Democratic and Republican leaders exchanged oratorical blows last night as campaigners for the Nov. 3 vote increased in tempo.

Gov. Dwight Green told Republicans in a rally here that Illinois people, when they vote, will be in "a crusade which transcends all partisanship," and that "if you wish to endorse the attempt of the Kelly-Nash-Crowe political machine to dominate the entire state, remain home on election day."

The Democratic candidate for state treasurer, W. D. (Don) Forsythe, asserted that returning C. Wayland Brooks to the senate would mean that "the war will surely last longer than if cooperative Raymond S. McKeough (congressman opponent of Brooks) is sent to the capitol to uphold the hands of President Roosevelt."

In Alton, Democratic Sen. Scott Lucas said Brooks would return, after the war, to isolationism.

Backing Brooks' candidacy, Illinois Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett described the junior senator from Illinois as "that American stalwart, the man who kept his word." He asserted that Lucas and Benjamin Adamowski (candidate for congressman at large on the Democratic ticket) although condemning it earlier in their political careers, now had the support of "the Kelly-Nash machine."

Frank J. Loesch, for many years president of the Chicago Crime Commission, informed Sen. Brooks today, according to the Republican state central committee, of his support in the election. Loesch told Brooks in the letter he believed him to be one "who is able to debate with the ablest senators x x x on any subject coming up for discussion."

Pipeline Texas to Coast Is Assured

Washington, Oct. 28—(AP)—Some easement for the eastern petroleum emergency apparently was assured for the future today, as an official of the Petroleum Coordination Office said the War Production Board had allocated the necessary steel for completion of the world's largest oil pipeline system from Texas to the Philadelphia-New York area.

The 850-mile line extension, from Norris City, Ill., to the Philadelphia-New York area, would cost approximately $60,000,000, said the spokesman, who declined to be quoted, and would be completed next spring or summer.

The 530-mile first link of the huge war product, from Texas to Norris City, is expected to be completed in December, and will move 300,000 barrels of petroleum daily for transshipment by rail, barge and truck on to the eastern short-age area.

Direct Delivery

Construction of the eastward extension would establish a direct pipeline delivery of the 300,000 barrels daily to the Bayonne, N. J., refining area, the OPC official said.

The pipeline is being built for the government by War Emergency Pipeline, Inc., a petroleum industry organization. It will extend approximately 1,380 miles, and the total cost of both links was expected to approach $95,000,000.

The OPC official said the entire 1,380 miles will be traversed by a 24-inch conduit, or else a 24-inch line will run to Phoenixville, Pa., with a 20-inch pipe continuing to the New York-Philadelphia area.

The spokesman could not give the definite route the line would follow from Norris City, Ill., to the eastern terminus.

Every Housewife Is Asked to Join in Tin Can Salvage

Chicago, Oct. 28—Every housewife in Illinois today was urged to salvage tin cans.

George M. Eisenberg and Walter V. McDoug, Jr., co-chairmen of the salvage committee, Illinois State Council of Defense, and WPB officials requested all county salvage chairmen to organize tin can salvage corps. This reverses earlier policy whereby only city housewives were requested to salvage cans.

Housewives are urged to begin immediately to salvage and store cans, Eisenberg said, although collection facilities have not been set up in some areas. A method of collection is being devised.

All food cans should be salvaged, Eisenberg said, including lithographed cans. Lubricating oil and grease can are not wanted.

Salvaging cans, Eisenberg said, is a simple four-step operation:

1. Wash the cans clean and remove their paper labels.
2. Cut top and bottom of cans enough to fold inside.
3. Flatten the cans, allowing some space between the sides.
4. Store them indoors, away from moisture, to await collection.

Cans are shipped to de-tinning plants, the salvage co-chairmen said. After the tin coating has been reclaimed the residue is good steel scrap.

The following Illinois cities have tin can salvage committees: Decatur, Springfield, Rock Island, Moline, Rockford, Champaign, Urbana and Peoria.

Committees are to be appointed immediately in Alton, Aurora, Belleville, Bloomington, Danville, Elgin, Galesburg and Joliet.

Medical Profession Studies Work Fatigue

Chicago, Oct. 28—(AP)—Dr. Morris Fishbein of the American Medical Association declared today that the medical profession, confronted by many wartime difficulties, was giving "most serious consideration" to the special problem of war industry-fatigue.

Dr. Fishbein, in an address prepared for delivery at the 31st National Safety Congress, asserted that with industry working at "tremendous" speed, the physical and mental breakdown of workers was higher than in peacetime because men "are driven in many instances far beyond their capacities."

"We know that little can be gained and probably more will be lost when working hours in any week exceed 60 to 65 for men and 55 to 60 hours for women."

Accidents in the nation's industries cause a loss of approximately one and one-half billion man hours of production annually, the editor of the AMA's Journal said, adding that "ill health and fatigue are associated frequently with accidents."

ICC Conducts Hearings on Road Abandonment

Chicago, Oct. 28—(AP)—Further hearings by the Illinois Commerce Commission on the proposed abandonment of sections of the Illinois Terminal railway will be held tomorrow and Friday in Springfield.

The commission granted the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen permission to intervene in the proceedings yesterday.

Permission to abandon parts of the road were refused by the commission despite a War Production Board order seizing the tracks and equipment for salvage. The WPB subsequently postponed action on the order pending further investigation.

Two Plead Guilty to Stealing Auto Parts From Ford Company

Detroit, Oct. 28—(AP)—Morris Jack Glyder of Flushing, N. Y., and Carl A. Block of Detroit, two of 60-odd defendants charged with stealing thousands of dollars in auto parts from the Ford Motor Company, pleaded guilty yesterday to transportation of stolen parts.

Their pleas were received by Federal Judge Edward J. Moinet on the eve of trial. Sentence was deferred pending a report from federal probation officers on backgrounds of the defendants.

Several months ago the FBI broke up an alleged nationwide ring which was said to have preyed on the Ford company—stealing parts for sale elsewhere at below-market prices. Dealers in auto parts and Ford employees were involved.

Thomas P. Thornton and Joseph C. Murray, assistant U. S. attorneys, said that under direction of Block, a Ford materials control clerk, and Glyder, a parts dealer, approximately $159,000 in materials were stolen within a month's time from the company. Glyder furnished money to bribe employees to steal. Thornton charged and the parts were shipped to his warehouse in New York and sold.

Discuss Extension of Conservation Practices on Farms

Directors of the Ogle County Soil Conservation District have discussed methods by which the application of conservation practices may be extended to a large number of farms during the 1943 cropping season.

In discussing war time needs, Chairman Frank Coffman referred to the soil losses which resulted from increased production of food during the last war and emphasized the importance of preventing similar depletion in the current program of increasing food for freedom.

All Farmers Offered Assistance
Dr. L. B. Swingley recommended that all farmers be given help in establishing one or two simple practices which will retard erosion even though cropping is more intensive. He suggested that any farmer desiring help to establish a sod waterway, plant a field on the contour, or other similar aid, are invited to make application to the district directors at the Ogle County office. Local field demonstrations will be held in any neighborhood upon request.

Not a Substitute
Director Everett Johnson expressed the opinion that farmers will be able to adopt one or more simple practices without difficulty and thereby materially reduce erosion losses. Limited help will be provided by the district without obligation on the part of farmers. Ben Carpenter, district director, made it clear that the offer of extensive assistance will not be a substitute for preparation of complete farm plans. All groups requesting help in preparing plans will be given assistance by the technicians assigned to the district in the same order that applications are filed with the directors.

Frank Purnell, extension conservationist, Urbana, Illinois, attended the directors meeting. Director Robert Buford was unable to attend the meeting due to the death of a relative.

A TAX PLAN TO FIGHT AND WIN THE WAR

To win this war we must have a tax bill for revenue only—

A bill which will encourage every corporation, business and individual—to produce taxable income—not discourage it.

It must eliminate dishonest tax labels and money formulae, which insult the taxpayer's intelligence and his honor in the war.

The people must be told the truth about what they have to pay in "sweat" (they know already about the blood and tears) to win this war.

If, in addition to all other taxes, this means a "sales" or "purchase" tax, adopt it—

By whatever name, to the treasury, "smells the sweeter."

Increase the normal and surtax rates on corporations, but make the "excess profits tax" an honest—not a phoney one.

Thus the "excess profits" tax is made a bona fide regular source of revenue, not a device to stifle revenue and fool the people.

Make the tax on the higher personal brackets such as will leave an incentive to produce high bracket income taxes.

Eliminate all such trick schemes as No. 215, in the current senate bill, which penalize, in the name of taxing, legitimate expansion efforts of corporations or persons.

Take the big union war chests like any other corporation's income, relaxing the pressure these big chests are exerting on a government at war.

Eliminate the "horse trading" in congress which creates such scandals as the "depletion allowances" in the present bill.

Let senate, house, and the president realize the meaning of this war of survival and rise to the full stature of the country's total crisis—in tax and all legislation.

Finally, make immediate transition to a pay as we go federal tax plan on all personal taxes, effective for the entire year 1943.

This only can be done by "forgiving" a year of tax charges—to gain a solvent tax-paying nation.

Do this for the small taxpayer, to enable him to pay what he has to pay—and to save his bond subscription, his self-respect and his morale in the war.

Do this for the large taxpayer—to enable him to pay more tax—and in spite of the opposition of the treasury to "helping" its "public enemy No. 1"—the large taxpayer.

Do this because in no other way can America pay for and hence win the war.

The longer the delay the more nearly impossible is the task. Let us, for once, face the facts in time.—Basil Brewer.

SPEED LIMITED IN ASSEMBLY PARK

Numerous complaints have been received at the office of Sheriff Gilbert Finch of speeding on the drives in Assembly park, endangering the lives of children and adults. Assembly park is private property and a speed limit of 20 miles an hour has been set within the area, and all violators will be arrested and fined for failure to conform to the regulation.

Illinois GOP Expects to Capture 23 Seats in Congress by Poll

(By The Associated Press)
Chicago, Oct. 28—(AP)—This is the year in which the Republicans hope to return to glory in Illinois.

Led by C. Wayne Brooks, the curly-headed senator from Chicago, they profess to be on the road back to the dominant position in state politics that has been traditionally theirs since the days of Abraham Lincoln.

If their hopes are fulfilled, the Republican party will elect its first full-term senator since 1928, put a working majority in the assembly and gain seven congressmen.

There are now 16 Republicans in the Illinois congressional delegation of 27. Reapportionment reduces the delegation to 26 this year, and Ben Berve, GOP state chairman, said he expected to win
23 of these seats.

All that stands in the way of these aspirations is the Democratic party—which polled 1,026-644 of the 1,963,298 votes cast in the April primary.

Against Brooks, who was elected in 1940 to serve out the unexpired terms of the late Sen. James Hamilton Lewis, the Democrats have nominated congressman from Chicago, Raymond S. McKeough.

The Democratic candidate for congressman-at-large is another Chicagoan, Benjamin S. Adamow-ski, a young lawyer who formerly was majority leader of the state house of representatives. Adamow-ski is opposing Rep. Stephen
A. Day of Evanston, a Pre-Rear
Harbor isolationist who was embarrassed politically when it became known that his anti-British book was published by a firm with which George Sylvester Viereck, convicted Nazi propagandist, was associated.

These are the two major offices
at stake in the off-year election.
Generally quiet campaigns have been reported from other midwestern states.

In North Dakota the candidates ran into a late harvesting season that cut into their crowds. Secretary of State Herman Thorson has estimated that not more than 200,000 voters will go to the polls, compared with 275,105 in the 1933
general election. Gov. John Mosses, the only Democrat in the statehouse, is opposed by his lieutenant governor, Oscar W. Hagen, leading a coalition ticket.

Pre-war isolationism is an issue in Wisconsin, where Republican Gov. Julius P. Heil seeks a third term against Democratic,
Progressive and Socialist candidates.

The GOP has a 2 to 1 registration advantage in South Dakota.
There Gov. Harlan J. Bushfield,
Republican, stands for a senate seat against former Gov. Tom Berry, a Roosevelt man.

In Minnesota, 35-year-old Gov.
Harold E. Stassen, soon to enter the Navy, leads the Republican candidates in a spirited campaign for re-election.

Gov. George A. Wilson of Iowa, a Republican, is attempting to oust Democratic Clyde L. Herring from the senate. Former
Gov. Nelson Akers, a Democrat, is pitted against Lieut. Gov.
B. B. Hickenlooper in the gubernatorial race in Iowa.

The senatorial contest in Michigan is headed by Prentiss M.
Brown, the Democratic incumbent; Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson, Republican who directed a two-year grand jury investigation of corruption in the Detroit area; and Gerald L. K. Smith, who is running on stickers and promising to fight for "tires for everybody".

In the Michigan gubernatorial contest, Democratic Gov. Murray
D. Van Wagoner, whose friends say he hopes to use his office as a stepping stone to the vice presidential nomination, has refused to mention the name of his Republican opponent, Harry F. Kelly.
Kelly has accused Van Wagoner of injecting politics into civilian defense affairs.

have an opportunity to take one of the rural war production courses which are sponsored by the federal government, according to Clyde Fry, instructor in vocational agriculture at Polo Community high school. The courses are conducted by the department of vocational agriculture in the local high schools. The purposes of the courses is to help farmers meet their production goals and to help them keep their machinery and equipment in repair.

The board of education has officially approved these courses so that plans are being made to offer such courses as may be desired in this community. They are open to anyone out of school and who is 17 years old or older. The first four courses are of a mechanical nature.

1—The operation, care and repair of tractors, trucks and automobiles.

2—Metal work, including welding, tempering, drilling, shaping and machinery repair.

3—Woodworking. This course must not include furniture making, cabinet work or model making.

4—Elementary electricity, including operation, care and repair of electrical equipment and wiring for light and power.

These first four courses are 120 hours in length with a minimum of 15 hours per week. They are to be taught by men who are specialists in each line of work. At least 10 persons must be enrolled in order to have a course.

No. 5 is a course in the repair, operation and construction of farm machinery and equipment. This course is similar to the first four in its requirements except that it is 36 hours in length with a minimum of 3 hours per week.

If there is sufficient demand for any of these five courses they will be offered if arrangements can be made for facilities for the course and an instructor can be secured. The rest of the courses are production courses.

6—Increasing milk production.

7—Increasing poultry production.

8—Increasing egg production.

9—Increasing pork production.

10—Increasing beef production.

11—Increasing mutton, lamb and wool production.

12—Increasing soy bean production.

These courses are 20 hours in length with a minimum of two hours a week. One or more of these courses will definitely be offered. They will be taught by Clyde Fry. The classes may be held at the high school or if it is more convenient they can be held at a country school house or community center.

If there is sufficient demand, an attempt will be made to secure additional teachers and hold a number of courses throughout the community.
